- Foor Leisure Path

I talked to a resident of Elmont Place who resides next to the Foor Leisure Path. he purchased the property after the path was built. Currently, there is a line of trees that separate the path from his side property. He is complaining that there are kids and pets getting onto his yard, and he wants the City to pay for and install fencing.

He brought up the fact that there is split rail fencing which separates the house across the street and the path. However, that fence is at the rear of the property and was part of the Cruiser Park project and was installed before the path. That house has nothing separating it from the path on the side of the property.

I have done some research and found documentation that we worked with the owners at the time the path was built, and that we the trees instead of fencing at their request.

My concerns are: 1) that installing a split rail fence in addition to the trees would not be enough of a deterrent, and I would not want to install a privacy fence for safety issues for those using the path; 2) the path runs beside or behind several properties and I could see one property becoming several; and 3) we already worked with the property owner at the time the path was built.

I did tell the property owner that I would bring it before Council at this committee meeting to get your opinion.
