ART GALLEY

Creating art is a family activity that fills the Rhyen home that focuses on play and having fun, creativity shapes their family to be innovators. Kimberly's son Carter also is a big part of her art world. While her son has a way about organizing and planning his artwork that is nothing like her process. He tends to think about his design and then he begins. Kimberly tends to paint without a plan and navigates a path by chance. Kimberly loves working with her son and watching him express through art making. She feels that it is a path to growth and understanding. She does admit that creating art with her son is sometimes messy but is filled with beautiful awakening.
